

Suzie Price

Certified Professional Behavior Analyst (CPBA)
Certified Professional Values Analyst (CPVA)
Certified TriMetrix Analyst (CTA)
Certified Professional Facilitator (CPF)
Managing Principal, Priceless Professional Development

Suzie Price gained business, operations and organizational development acumen in her corporate career at national/international corporations: NCR, State Farm Insurance, Oracle Corporation and Right Management Consultants.

She brings facilitation skills, business expertise and communication science to each individual and group development engagement and is uniquely qualified to guide her clients because of her various certifications and rich understanding of behaviors, workplace motivation, position benchmarking and facilitation.

PPD provides depth, breadth and scalability to all engagements through their alliances with:

- TTI, an international science and research organization
- PSS, a national survey platform technology and training organization
- Vital Learning, an international training publisher
- IAF, an international facilitation network

She's authored, been quoted and published articles for numerous publications. She is on the Board of the Southeast Association of Facilitators and is involved in the International Association of Facilitators, American Society of Training and Development and The Hartman Institute.

Suzie is married to her true love, Jeff, a commercial builder. Her sidekick is Oscar, a stubborn and delightful 20-pound shi-poo. In her free time she enjoys NASCAR and roots for Dale, Jr.

Her strong desire to know to live a good and joyous life, coupled with determined soul-searching, Suzie is living and working in-sync with her passions. She's learned, first-hand, the power of living an inspired life.
